

CAMDEN ALPACA SHOW 2007

After a lapse of some 10 years, alpacas were once again shown at the 121st Annual Camden Show held on the 24th March 2007.

Over 150 animals were presented to the judge Kylie Martin, who did such a superb job under rather hot conditions. Special thanks must also go to our ring steward Graham Lugg and marshalling stewards Max Pascoe-Webbe and Scott Condus; I'm sure they must be a few kilos lighter.

Supreme Huacaya went to Brabant Chieftain exhibited by Brabant Alpacas. A small number of suris were presented but no supreme was awarded.

Junior handlers class was a great hit with the public, attracting quite a crowd. The kids and the crowd enjoyed the class thanks to the innovative judging of Harriet Davison.

Being a first time show convenor I realise the importance of sponsors and having a show committee full of enthusiastic and committed workers. I would like to thank them all for their co-operation and support, with special thanks to Rachel Condus and Janie Hicks for doing such a great job on the mike, to Daryl Salmon for organising the stud auction, and to Celia Cook who once again camped overnight to ensure security for the alpacas.

Looking forward to 2008
